

Arrived to Belgium

Hellooo future erasmus students and welcome to my blog!
☺ Im spending my erasmus semester in Gent which is one of the most famous university city in Belgium. Let's start with my first experiences. After I settled down to my lovely cosy apartment I couldn't wait to check the city center.

What I realized for the very first time is that Gent is amazingly beautiful, cleaned and welcoming. As you can see it on my picture the city center is super cute and the architecture what they have here is breathtaking. And yes it is true the belgian waffle is sooo delicious ;). I tried one with belgian chocolate and fell in love with it.

Now let's continue with the school which is Artevelde University College. Yesterday was the last day of the introduction week. They showed us the campus and gave some information about the system and the schedule. The campus is very modern and Im so excited about the lectures because they seem so interesting and useful. Well the system is a bit strict but the teachers are very kind and helpful. I can't wait to share more experiences with you in my next blog. See you soon! ☺
